A Light exists in Spring

There's a certain kind of light in springtime that can't be seen at any other time of year. It appears early on in the season, when March has only just arrived.

A color lights up the lonely fields. This color can't be explained by science; rather, it's something that human beings innately sense.

It lingers on the grass, revealing even the most distant tree on the most distant hill you can think of. It practically talks to you.

But as the days go by, without so much as a sound, this light moves on while we're left behind.

The feeling of having lost something gnaws at our happiness, as if all of a sudden business had intruded upon some holy ceremony.

by Emily Dickinson

Looking Forward

March 3: “Our Lives in Poetry and Music” Join us for an inspirational service to rejuvenate your spiritual grounding-- a journey of mindful pleasure with Abe Khelah 's superb musicianship and poetry selections from Lisa Erspamer. Potluck will follow.

March 17: “A Historical Perspective of Jewish Settlement in Brown County”. We welcome Ms. Vicki Pieser as guest speaker. Ms. Pieser has been researching the Jewish immigrant community in Brown County for a book in progress. She will talk about their challenges, the influence of global events on anti-Semitism, and the historical nurturing of hate. Please join us for an enlightening and informative presentation.

Mark your calendars for guest ministers on April 7 and 21. Announcements in April Mere Lys.
